Welcome to Wild Apricot

Welcome to the new membership capabilities of our Wild Apricot site! Wild Apricot is an internet-based membership service that McMurray Art League has subscribed to which offers the membership and administration a number of benefits, including:

- Showcase our members' artistic talents to whatever degree is desired by each member
- Provide three privacy settings so that each member's profile information is visible by all visitors to our website (everyone), just other MAL members or no one. This is adjustable by each member and for each piece of profile data.
- Allow each member to upload images of their artwork to a personal online gallery. For those of you who have wanted your own website to showcase your work, this could be a way to that end without additional expense to you!
- Have each member maintain his or her own information so addresses, email and phone numbers are always current
- An online membership application screen for new members (no need to print and mail)
- Pay for new membership or renewal via PayPal (or by mailing in a check, as before)
- Certain of our administrators and officers can mass email the members or subsets of the members
- Store our patrons' contact information and send emails to them
- Post our classes as "events" allowing online class registration, reducing the amount of work for the class registrar

This document will show you how to use the members-only facilities of Wild Apricot. We hope to schedule some demo sessions to give members a chance to ask questions and learn more.

Note that Wild Apricot provides a separate website from our www.mcmurrayartleague.org site which we will continue to keep. The MAL Wild Apricot site is at mcmurrayartleague.wildapricot.org and is fully functional in itself for both members and the public. The MAL Wild Apricot Home page provides a link back to the MAL site. We have also been able to "embed" several of the Wild Apricot functions directly into our own MAL site as "widgets".

For you to use the member-specific aspects of Wild Apricot, including editing your member profile, you will need to enable "cookies" in your internet browser. Here are the instructions from the Wild Apricot help information:

Users cannot interact with Wild Apricot widgets if their browser is set to block third-party cookies. By default, Safari blocks third-party cookies, while Firefox and Chrome accept them. Internet Explorer blocks third-party cookies by default but allows users to accept them from Wild Apricot and other sites. Some firewalls or browser plug-ins may affect your browser's cookies settings. For more information, see this link: <http://windows.microsoft.com/en-us/windows7/block-enable-or-allow-cookies>

Public View

Members Directory - To see the Member Directory information from the MAL site, click on the Members Directory link. Note that the public will see this information and can only see the information you have allowed them to see. By default, as with many other art leagues, the public will only see your name, your "signature name" (how you sign your artwork) and your website (if you have one). By default, logged in members will see all your information much as they currently do in the printed directory. You can adjust the privacy settings of each piece of profile information. We're hoping you will update this information to keep it more current.

Member Directory List – The public will see the member directory list where they can scroll through the list and search for members.

Public Blog

Wild Apricot provides the capability for both a public and a members-only blog. “Blog” is short for “weblog” and is a way for contributors to post information and for others to comment on it. Facebook is another example of a blogging service.

To access the MAL Wild Apricot public blog, click the News/Public Blog menu option on the McMurray Art League website. The most recent blog posts are displayed. Only logged in members may create new blog entries but the public can view and comment on the entries. Logged in members will see an Add Post button on the screen shown below.

Public Forums

Wild Apricot provides the capability for both a public and members-only forum. A forum is somewhat like a blog but with a topic of discussion identified and threads of comments connected to it. Only logged in members may create new forum entries but the public can view and comment on the entries. You can click on the “Subscribe to forum” link to be notified by email of updates to the forum topic. Logged in members will see a Create Topic button on the screen shown below.

Events

Wild Apricot provides a calendar and event registration system. The event registration system automatically sends email reminders to attendees reminding them of upcoming events for which they have registered.

WA Calendar

You can reach the Wild Apricot calendar by clicking the WA Calendar menu option from the McMurray Art League website. The League's classes, meetings and important show events are displayed in a month, week or year view with scrolling between periods.
